TE KĀPEHU WHETŪ

Kia ora e te whānau - Ko te wiki whakamutunga o te Wāhanga Tuatoru, ā, kei te whakakapi mātou i runga i te āhua rangatira!

Tata ki te 50 tau ki muri, i ārahi a Dame Whina Cooper i tētahi hīkoi, e 1000km te roa, mai i Te Hiku o te Ika ki Te Whanganui-a-Tara, e tohe ana mō ngā motika whenua o te Māori.

Ko Te Wiki o te Reo Māori tētahi o ngā hua o taua hīkoi, me ērā atu anō whakatutukitanga maha e noho mōhio kore nei tātou i ēnei rā. Me whakanui tātou i te 50 tau o te tū whakahōnore i ō tātou motika hei tangata whenua.

(Almost 50 years ago, Dame Whina Cooper led protesters on a 1000km march from the Far North to Wellington, fighting for Māori land rights. Te Wiki O Te Reo Māori is one of the outcomes of the hīkoi as is many other achievements that we often take for granted. Let us celebrate 50 years of standing up for our rights as tangata whenua)

Term 3
Week 9

Kia Māori

Remembering Dame Whina Cooper.

Paetawhiti

The far horizon

We have spent the last two weeks researching The 1975 Land March. We are practicing our research and essay skills while learning about an important event in our history as Māori. Here are some short excerpts of essays written by ākonga.

Dame Whina Cooper was really worried about Māori losing their land and not being treated fairly. She believed that land is very important to Māori, it's part of who they are, their family, and their history. That's why she decided to lead the Māori Land March, to stand up and ask the government to stop taking Māori land and respect their rights. She wanted to protect the land for future generations.

(Aqueila Pene)

Yes, Dame Whina Cooper was upset by the loss of land. Yes, Dame Whina Cooper was annoyed that Māori weren't getting heard. But with her hard work and dedication, she gained 60,000 signatures of supporters and approximately 5,000 people walking. Her rangatiratanga makes me genuinely look up to her and think more on how the problems she was facing, are still a problem to this day.

The 1975 Land March achieved National awareness of Māori land loss, united Māori voices, and pressured the government to address land issues. It led to the creation of the Waitangi Tribunal, which began investigating treaty breaches. The March marked a turning point in Māori activism and the recognition of Indigenous land rights.

Look at these awesome hoe

Kia Tū Rangatira ai

Leading the whare.

Ākonga Leading the Way

Every week brings new learning opportunities for our whare — and this week was no exception. What made it extra special, however, was that much of the learning came from ākonga teaching ākonga.

While Whaea Joelz was (as always!)

hard at work preparing the hoe for sanding, a group of dedicated girls, who have been training with Whaea Jolene after school, stepped up to lead the whare. They introduced new drills and calls, sharing their knowledge confidently and clearly with the rest of the group.

Their leadership and commitment to the kaupapa were truly inspiring. A special mihi to Julie Hoori, who led many of the sessions with incredible poise and strength, supported by Khaznae and Melita. These young leaders ran a two-hour session — and not a single complaint was heard.

Each week, Whaea Jolene pours her time and energy into this kaupapa, and every week, that learning extends beyond the waka — into our classrooms, and even into our homes.

Common Assessment Testing - Done and Dusted!

Over the past two weeks, our Year 10 students — along with some Year 9s — have been hard at work completing their Common Assessment Tests for the year. There's no doubt that everyone who sat the tests was relieved to see the finish line!

Well done to all our ākonga for your focus and effort during this busy period. Results will be available early next term.

Te Kāpehu Whetū

"Tū ki te Marae, Tū ki te Ao!!! - Action Plan Against Racism in Aotearoa!

On Friday 12th September, some of our senior ākonga were invited by Ngatiwai iwi to the Waitangi Treaty Grounds, to take part in a taiohi-led hui. This hui was part of the People's Action Plan Against Racism in Aotearoa, a kaupapa led by the National Iwi Chairs Forum.

The wānanga created a safe space for taiohi to share their experiences, ideas, and aspirations for a future free from racism. Their voices will help shape actions that promote equity and fairness for the next generations.

Te Kāpehu Whetū

Facilitated by taiohi with the support of Tina Ngata, the hui highlighted the importance of uplifting youth perspectives.

Matua Moses and Whaea Petina were privileged to attend alongside our kura leaders.

PAERANGI

Its been a busy time for Kia Matau in Paerangi this week. Literacy and Numeracy assessments, practise externals, and working towards completing internal assessments. It has been pleasing to see ākonga focussed and pushing themselves to succeed.

Most ākonga still have mahi to finish this coming week so it is important to maintain excellent attendance right till the end of the term. Term 4 is a short one for Paerangi so make sure to complete everything on time so you are free to enjoy your end of year break as soon as you are able.

Attendance Improvement

This week has seen a great improvement in attendance and arriving to kura on time - thanks for the effort!
